

For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat,
I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink,
I was a stranger and you invited me in ...

- Matthew 25:35

Last year, with your generous support, 2,326 kids and their families took steps on their personal pathways to success. The road is not always straight, but you are helping our neighbors overcome the many barriers that could otherwise derail them.

We simply could not do what we do without your support. I wish you could see what I get to see every day-moms and dads, boys and girls, teens and young adults-whose lives are changing for the better in big and small ways.

There are a lot of words in this report, but I hope you will pay special attention to the pictures. Look at the smiles on their faces. Look at the determination in their eyes. That's what your generosity helps bring to people in our community.

You are making a difference in the lives of so many, but it's simply not enough. We need to do more. That is why I am not only thanking you, but asking you to partner with us.

Let's continue to transform our community and help empower children and their families to truly break the cycle of poverty. Together, we get to impact lives for generations to come. If that doesn't get you excited, I don't know what will.

With gratitude,

Dave Hawn

To prepare and send every child in our neighborhood to college or some form of postsecondary education.

The value of education is one of the few gifts in life we can all agree on. It's one of the few things that can break the cycle of poverty for good. Regardless of your politics or religion, we all stand for the value of education to transform a future. Thank you for extending the gift of an education to kids and families who need it most.

ONE BIG GOAL:

To break the cycle of poverty by sending every child in our neighborhood to college.*

THREE THINGS:

Mind, body, and heart. Holistic growth is key to our approach.

Generations of Change

Myrna Garcia came to Urban Ventures by way of a hard childhood.

Myrna's childhood-marred by abuse, alcoholism, and violence—is an all-too-common story among participants at Urban Ventures. But Myrna's story is also marked by something else found in many participants: resilience. Myrna persevered, and worked to escape the trauma of her childhood through education.

Myrna fell in love, married, and had three beautiful daughters, but her childhood trauma followed her. Myrna wanted to grow and heal, but she didn't know how. "How will I forgive people who hurt me like that?" A friend invited her to the parenting classes at Urban Ventures. She began to understand things like forgiveness, healthy relationships, and conflict resolution. More importantly, she found support to change.

Her whole family saw the transformation taking place in Myrna's life. One of her daughters shared, "You are a better person and a happier person. You treat us differently now!"

Ever since her children were young, Myrna had prayed that they could attend great colleges. Privately, she even prayed specifically that Vivian, the eldest, could attend Bethel University, even though she knew it was financially out-of-reach. They heard about a possible scholarship opportunity. What they didn't know was that it was also an Urban Ventures program. Vivian applied for and received an Urban Ventures Act Six scholarship—to the first cadre at Bethel University! An answered prayer.

Around this time, Myrna began to consider her own future. "I wanted a job where I could help other people. Where I could say, 'I understand." The very next month, the phone rang. It was Franklin, director of Urban Ventures' Center for Families. There was a job opening, and he felt she'd be the perfect fit.

Since 2016, Myrna has served as a family support specialist for Siempre Padres. In that time, she has helped hundreds of families and has been able to say, "I understand," to countless individuals. When asked to sum up her experience with Urban Ventures, Myrna's eyes light up.

"Urban Ventures is the bridge that connects my family's dreams with God's will."

Myrna is grateful to be part of making Urban Ventures' work happen, and so grateful for the people who make it possible. "I wonder if our donors know that their support is impacting multiple generations. In the end, it's going to be a better community and a better city because Urban Ventures is here."

Fiscal Year 2019 Financials

None of our work would be possible without the resources entrusted to us by our generous donors. We work hard to ensure every dollar invested in Urban Ventures is stewarded wisely.
